'PEANUT BRIGADE' TO VISIT HERE, AT ROCKDALE

The "Peanut Brigade" is coming to Cameron and Rockdale this week and will visit downtown business people in their efforts for Democratic presidential candidate Jimmy Carter.

The brigade will consist of a busload of Georgians, all volunteers, who are making a tour of small towns in Texas. They will arrive in Cameron at the mall at 11 a.m., according to an announcement by Max McClaren and Carroll Glaser, Milam County co-chairmen for the Carter campaign.

The campaigners will stop in Rockdale at 1:45 p.m. Monday as part of the tour.

They will stay in Cameron until 1 p.m. Wednesday, then go on to Rosebud.

The Georgians will be shaking hands and distributing literature to the public during their visit.

RUGGED OLD TOOLS from the early Baylor College caught the interest of sophomores Michele Hackers, Michael Staggs and freshman Alan Jones, right, of Cameron. They were in the museum at Independence when the freshman class and other students of Mary Hardin-Baylor made a pilgrimage to where the original Baylor Female College and Baylor University, as a combined school, were chartered in 1845 by the Republic of Texas.

Jury Awards $3,306 In Damage Suit

Yoe High band director Jerry Bartley was awarded $3,306.90 in damages by a six-man, six-woman jury in 20th District Court Thursday as a result of a suit brought against two Cameron men.

Defendants in the case were Edison Fikes and Carroll Fikes, both of Cameron, who were accused of inflicting bodily damage to Bartley in an incident at Bartley's home on October 10, 1975.

The suit claimed that the two men came on Bartley's property "with intent to inflict serious bodily injury on plaintiff." It alleged that Edison Fikes was armed with a ball peen hammer, which in the course of the trial was claimed to have been carried in defense of Bartley's dog.

The complaint charged that the two men "threatened the life of the defendant and ordered to leave his home and come with them in their car. When he refused, Carroll Fikes proceeded to attack him. He kicked, punched, beat, and otherwise inflicted serious and painful bodily injury.

"The defendant Edison Fikes was present and armed with a ball peen hammer and observed the assault. By his actions and word of mouth he counseled, encouraged, advised, and directed Carroll to commit assault," the complaint stated.

Both defendants pleaded guilty to a charge brought by Bartley in November 1975, and were fined in County Court for the offense.

The suit asked that damages be awarded for "bodily pain, mental anguish, and humiliation suffered in the past, and which will be suffered in the future," but asked no specific amount in the plaintiff's petition.

Witnesses called included Dale Lafferty, County Atty. Charles Smith Jr., CISD School Supt. Buddy Dulin, and Yoe principal Jack Chubb.

The jury awarded $556.90 in damages for bodily pain, mental anguish and humiliation, and medical expenses. Exemplary damages were $2,750.

The incident which led to the assault was reportedly due to a conflict between Bartley and Edison Fikes' daughter over a band uniform.

District judge Don G. Humble presided and members of the jury were Lillie Ralston, Leonard Janke, Shirley Ann Crook, Rose Longoria Ortega, Curtis A. Gould, Charles E. Lawley, Ruth Johnson, James T. Burnett, Carol Kay Brooks, Clarence R. Hengst, Geraldine Ann Edwards, and Royice A. Rae.

'Scrap Paper' Ballots Arrive

WACO

Nearly two tons of general election ballots arrived at the McLennan County clerk's office, and all 88,900 of them are nothing but 3,850 pounds of scrap paper. State Sen. Grant Jones' name was left off the ballot. As a result the printer will reprint them at no extra expense to the county and the first batch will be hauled and sold to a waste paper company.

City Considers Doubling Tax

TEMPLE

Temple city commissioners are considering an ordinance which would double the city's gross receipts tax on Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. Bell currently pays a tax amounting to two percent of its revenues collected in Temple, which amounted to a little more than $44,000 last year.

Council Favors Outside Appraiser

ROCKDALE

Rockdale city councilmen voted to negotiate a contract with an outside appraiser for the purpose of equalizing city tax rolls in spite of the mayor's favoring the hiring of an assessor within the local city government. Mayor N. E. Alford said he felt such an appraiser could "do just as good a job for $1,000 to $1,200 as an outside firm."

Macrame Mystery Solved

McGREGOR

The mystery of the missing macrame tassels on hanging baskets on a McGregor lady's front porch was solved when a Mirror photographer spotted a handsome squirrel working away at the tassel. When he became aware of his audience, the squirrel leaped to a neighboring tree and headed for his macrame-lined nest.

Picket Lines Withdrawn

BELTON

Officials of the Retail and Wholesale Department Store Union notified Rockwool Industries that picket lines were being withdrawn at the Belton plant. However, there has been no announcement of a contract or other settlement in the months-old strike at the Southwest division plant of Rockwool. The strike grew out of the company's refusal to collect union dues from employees.

Bidding Due For Dam Repair

ROSEBUD

Bidding is expected in mid-November on plans for repairs to the Rosebud City Lake Dam, the city manager said. Engineering plans and specifications for the repair are not completed yet. The city received a $150,000 federal grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development for the work. The dam, weakened by the year's rains and a shaky foundation, has cracked and slipped and conditions were termed unsafe.

Schools Receive Federal Aid

HEARNE

The Hearne public Schools received notificiation of a grant award of $125,526 federal funds under the Emergency School Aid Act program, Title VII. The act meets special needs incident to the elimination of minority groups, segregation, discrimination, and isolation in the elementary and secondary schools.

Auctions, Bands Add Funds To Building Drive

Collections and pledges for the Milam County Youth Exposition building fund now total $58,000, according to the exposition building association's figures.

A band canvass brought in $375. Livestock auctions at Bode's Livestock Auction in Milano brought in $311.70 and Cameron Livestock Auction brought in $3,415.49 for a total of $3,727.19.

All animals auctioned off were donated by Milam County residents for the fund drive.

The following are additional donors who have contributed to the drive:

Poage Says Country Faces 'Real Crisis'

In a speech at an appreciation dinner Thursday night at Rockdale, Cong. Bob Poage discussed the energy problem with friends all over Milam County who had gathered to do him honor.

"The United States faces a real --not an imaginary--energy crisis," Poage said. "Right today we are importing about 40 percent of the oil we are using, and that percent is bound to go higher before we convert to other basic sources of energy."

He referred to the great lignite deposits in Milam County and said that we now have the know how to convert this into oil and gas.

"We must allow the opportunity for those who want to develop our resources to make a profit," he said.

"I have not been able to understand it, but apparently a majority of the present members of Congress feel that somebody has made too much money in the development of oil and gas in the past, and that the government should make sure that nobody should expect to make money in producing oil and gas in the future.

"As I see it, this is a foolproof formula to kill all development. I think we should encourage energy development of all kinds."

The Congressman stated that private industry is now building a billion dollar nuclear power plant in he north part of the 11th district and that TP&L will soon start construction of a very large lignite fired plant at Rockdale.

He added that both Baylor University and TSTI at Waco and Central Texas College at Killeen are working on the development of solar and other types of energy and that all of this activity should make Central Texas more attractive as a location for industry.

Let's Meet Quota For Bloodmobile

All donors and prospective donors are reminded that the Red Cross Bloodmobile will be in Cameron Tuesday to collect 73 or more units of blood.

Hours will be from 12 noon until 6 p.m. at the Methodist Fellowship Hall.

So far this year, the city has met its blood quota each time and it is hoped that this good response will continue.

Houston Police Honor Son Of Cameron Couple

Houston Police Chief B. G. Bond honored Homicide Detective J. L. Hall with the Chief of Police Commendation Award on October 7.

Detective Hall is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cullen L. Vaughn of Rt. 2, Cameron.

Detective Hall was honored for demonstrating outstanding investigative skill and dedication in the apprehension and arrest of an actor suspected as being the "Beer Belly" Rapist, bringing to an end 24 cases of rape and sexual abuse.

Chief Bond said, "The team of detectives working the case completely disregarded their personal and private time until this case was brought to a conclusion. This spirit of dedication, cooperation, and hard work practiced by this homicide team should be a model for all investigative teams."

A New Companion? . . .

The debate on foreign policy and defense the other night brought gaffe in flat-statement form by President Ford who said "there is no Soviet domination of Eastern Europe."

Just about everything else exchanged in the debate with Gov. Jimmy Carter was tit for tat, quid pro quo, vis a vis. But the Georgian was visibly encouraged by Mr. Ford's statement which he has been qualifying ever since.

We now have Poles and Hungarians wondering about their "present plight" as the President later described the condition of Eastern European nations.

The polls show independents taking more of a side in looking at the two candidates after the second debate last week. Afterward, an AP poll shows Carter leading with 48.5 percent and Ford trailing at 44.8.

The margin is close enough in this poll and others for the candidates either to be even closer or Carter to be ahead twice the difference of less than 4 points.

The former Georgia governor seemed to do better than expected in the second debate, but the margin is perhaps as close as the preference polls.

It may be that Carter has established a margin just enough ahead of the President to require the latter to either outdistance him completely in the remaining debate and campaign time or to be just short of the popular inclinations of a Democratic candidate.

It continues to be incumbency against vague charisma. Carter often discussed unemployment and U. S. domestic issues beyond the questions both candidates were asked. This type response was frequent enough that Ford aides said they were going to ask for ground rules to keep responses closer to question content.

Thus, the President, who has closed the immense gap between Carter and his candidacy, opened October about the way Carter ended September, saying what he apparently meant not to say in answer to the Eastern European question. For Carter, it was damaging comments to a Playboy interviewer.

Ronald Reagan joined the President at a California dinner for the first time since the GOP campaign, probably to strengthen Ford's appeal and to assuage prospective voters who think Reagan indeed is still the best campaigner in either party.

It is interesting that both Carter and Ford agreed on dealing with the Panama Canal issue, recognition that Reagan's particular stand on those negotiations hit a basic nerve.

Nothing final has been announced on a renewed review of Mr. Ford's campaign funding as a congressman. He refrains from any comment. He had to accept Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz's resignation after bi-partisan outcries about Butz's racial slurs.

The race is closing so close, at least in the polls, that what a man says a week or a few days before the November election might well turn the issue.

The cliffhangers of 1960 and 1968, Kennedy over Nixon and Nixon over Humphrey and both by less than 1 percentile, may have a new companion.

"Horrors of the Deep"

Oceans: Our Continuing Frontier

Horrors Of The Deep

By Eugenie Clark

Editor's Note: This is the third of 16 articles in the series "Oceans: Our Continuing Frontier." Here Eugenie Clark, Professor of Zoology at the University of Maryland and a noted expert on sharks, discusses monsters of the sea in fact and fiction and considers whether men or the creatures of the deep are the real predators. These articles, which explore the whole range of human involvement with the sea, were written for Courses by Newspaper, a program developed by University Extension, University of California, San Diego, and funded by a grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

It is a year since Jawsmania hit the world and the first underwater photographs of "Nessie," the Loch Ness Monster, were allegedly made. It might well be time to put some of the monsters of the deep in their places.

When we teach about the great sea reptiles of the past, will we now include Nessie among the plesiosaurs? We had to revise the textbooks in the 1930s when a coelcanth, a large living relic of a long "extinct" type of fish, surprised the world. And by 1975 even baby coelacanths were put on display at the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

Alas, Nessie is still only as tangible as UFOs. And the few good old sea monsters we thought we had are dwindling in reputation and numbers as divers add a new dimension to modern marine biology.

True, the giant squid exists and enough pieces have been found to suggest it may well grow longer than 70 feet--our most massive invertebrate. But even with all the sea traffic now, we can't substantiate the awesome old prints showing giant squid attacking ships. No one seems to care about these particular monsters anymore.

We do encounter the terrible octopus, but it turns out to be shy and gentle and, like other venmomous creatures, prefers to leave you alone it if can. Informed about your dangerous local forms of sea life, you can avoid blundering into them and frightening or irritating them to use their defensive weapons.

JAWS Reconstruction of the jaws of the prehistoric shark Carcharodon megalodon at the American Museum of Natural History, New York. Its modern relative, the great white shark, is "a marvelous monster we can still fear."

SHRINKING MONSTERS

A few decades ago some thought we had the baby of an unknown undulating sea monster when an exciting six-foot leptocephalus, a larval fish, was found off the east coast of Africa.

The common eel grows from a two-inch long leptocephalus to an adult of two feet. By that ratio, the adult of the monster leptocephalus might be over 70 feet long! But then we learned thaa a few eels shrink during their metamorphosis, and adults may even be slightly smaller than their larval stage. Our monster leptocephalus i s now thought to be in that category.

We now know you have to be a sloth to be caught in a giant clam. Even then you can pull out, for it doesn't clamp shut tightly. This filter feeder, which closes to protect itself, can't use you as food.

The largest whales, sharks, and manta, the stingless giant of the rays, are also plankton feeders. Divers vie for close encounters with these magnificent, harmless sea mammoths.

Performing killer whales and their cetacean relatives are now regarded with affection by million of TV viewers. Melville would have trouble writing "Moby Dick" today.

What's left?

It took Peter Benchley to glamorize and capitalize on the last of the sea monsters. "Jaws" is fascinating fiction, close enough to fact to make a credible story for an audience of three generations turned on by William Beebe, Rachel Carson, and Jacques Cousteau. A perfect time to put a good Frankenstein monster or Dracula under water where so many of us can now identify with the situation.

THE GREAT WHITE TERROR

Why among the 250 species of sharks did Carcharodon carcharius, the great white shark, become the horror star of the cinema? It is not the largest fish that ever lived, although its closest relative, Carcharodon megalodon, the extinct (we hope) "Big Tooth," probably was. The basking and whale sharks grow to over 30 feet, exceeding the exaggerated size of the mechanical monster white shark of the movie "Jaws."

Recently Dr. John Randall reexamined the largest known jaws of the great white shark at the British Museum of Natural History. The previously estimated 30-foot size of this shark seems inflated, but the now conservative estimate of 21 feet is still formidable!

This shark is not afraid of man, as most "man-eating" sharks really are. It normally feeds on active marine mammals as large as man and is so fast in the water that a tiger shark is sluggish in comparison. It deserves the reputation of being the most dangerous beast man can meet in the sea. No fancy or fiction can exaggerate the horror of its attack.

"Jaws," a good ichthyological science fiction, presents little you can label as utterly impossible. I was jarred from the grip of a different movie when a garibaldi, an orange fish that lives only in California waters, swam by Sophia Loren, supposedly underwater in the Grecian Isles. "Jaws" didn't break the spell of realism for me until a scuba tank blew up from a bullet at the end.

Sharks can be trained to feed on cue and can be conditioned to press a target to obtain their food. They can detect a fraction of a microvolt change in a nearby electrical field and pick up the low frequency vibrations of a struggling fish from a hundred yards away.

When annoyed or stirred into a feeding "frenzy," some sharks will come out of the water in pursuit or hang on tenaciously to an object even when dragged completely out of the water.

Yes, some large sharks are marvelous monsters we can still fear--and perhaps hope to have the thrill of meeting. But be careful if you meet one. Don't make any sudden movements or you will probably scare him off before you can get a good look or take his picture.

HUNTER AND HUNTED

Man is more the predator of sharks than vice versa. One has only to see the tons of sharks sold each day at the Tokyo fish market to be convinced of this.

Even with the synthesis of vitamins that dropped the once high market value of shark's liver, sharks are still hunted and killed by man for food (guess what's in fish and chips?), oils, chemicals, leather, and study by all college students taking a course in comparative anatomy.

Last year I read a report about an underwater cave in Takarajima, a remote island in Japan, where fishermen discovered 40 sharks "sleeping." Divers swarmed into the area and caught sharks by the hundreds, for food, by tying lassos around their tails.

When I got to Takarajima this year to observe the strange phenomenon, only two sharks were risking a nap.

In a recent dive off the Izu Peninsula, not far from Tokyo, a great Japanese diver Hajime Masuda showed me a secret place where we saw over 30 "dochizame" sharks in one spot. They were "sleeping," some piled on top of each other. We could pet them and Professor Masuda grabbed one in his arms and swam with it up to the boat.

After studying and dissecting this specimen, we cooked it, tempura-style. It was delicious. The place is kept secret, I learned, to protect the dochizame. Otherwise, scuba-diving weekend tourists from Tokyo would devour all these sharks.

Save the sea monsters!

Many of the whales are now endangered species when we are just getting to know what thoughtful and communicative creatures they are. And Nessie is endangered before we even know if she exists.

Dirt Turned For New Post Home

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the new Ben Milam Post 2010 home of the Veterans of Foreign Wars were held Thursday morning at the site located where the old and new Temple highways meet, west of Cameron.

Present for the ceremonies were members of the building committee and other members of the post.

The building, of metal construction, will have a 60 x 80 foot banquet hall that will be available for dances, private parties, and Post family activities. There will be a large kitchen for Post functions and a bar that will be open to the public.

Financing for the building, to be completed around the first of the year, was arranged with the First National Bank of Cameron. Epperson Refrigeration and Electric Co. are the general contractors.

Members of the building committee include A. J. Tomek, Post commander; J. C. Komar, adjutant; Dan Dawson, quartermaster; Frank Jekel, A. S. Epperson, and L. W. (Boots) Stroup.

Some people believe that the best way you can get good luck out of a four-leaf clover is to wear it in your shoe.

Implement Company Has New Owners

E. J. and Melvin Provasek of Cameron have announced the purchase of Duncum Implement Co. which will be called Provasek Implement Co., Inc.

The facility will still carry the same line of products, chiefly John Deere implements and equipment. Parts and service, including on-the farm service, will continue, the new owners said.

The Provaseks plan to improve the efficiency of the service department by adding additional personnel. The same employees will remain in the store as under the former ownership.

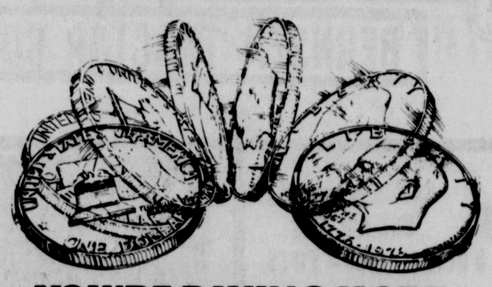
A TWO-SIDED COIN



YOU'RE PAYING MORE FOR ELECTRICITY. IT'S COSTING US MORE TO PRODUCE IT.

Texas Power & Light Company is concerned about both sides of the coin.

You really need no reminders about your side. Electric bills are higher these days and the fact that the costs of almost everything are up doesn't reduce your concern about your cost of electricity.

But, for just a moment, take a look at TP&L's side of the coin... the higher costs of producing and supplying electricity.

From 1974 to 1975, the cost of the fuels necessary to operate generating plants increased more than 65%.

To counter the spiraling costs of natural gas and fuel oil, TP&L is building new plants which use lower-cost lignite coal and nuclear materials. In 1975, the Company's construction costs totaled $268 million... $55 million more than in 1974.

Costs of operation and maintenance of generating plants, lines, trucks and other facilities and equipment have also risen drastically in recent years and are continuing to go up.

TP&L is working to keep the price of electricity as low as possible, but as the costs of producing it go up we have no choice but to ask our customers to pay a higher price. It's the only way we can maintain the adequate supply of power and the dependable service you expect.

BELFAST

Inside the sectarian strongholds of Northern Ireland, harsh retribution faces all who break the backstreet rule of law. This year alone authorities have recorded 67 cases of men admitted to hospitals with knee joints hit by bullets fired at close range. All the victims declined to talk to the police. "Knecapping" is practiced in Catholic and Protestant districts alike.

PARIS

The case of the chief accountant accused of embezzling eight million francs (about $1.7 million) from French aviation magnate Marcel Dassault is fast developing into a political row that could embarrass the government. Suspicions of scandal have followed leaks about the contents of a confidential dossier which accountant Herve de Vathaire compiled on the activities of the Dassault company, makers of the Mirage fighter-bomber.

The installation of a new president in Lebanon spotlights on the one hand the tragedy of the bloody strife in that country, on the other the future of the Palestinians' resistance to Israel. For that future depends upon the Arab world's efforts to end the conflict in Lebanon, according to informed observers here. In Lebanon, the Palestinians found their freest base of operations against Israel.

WASHINGTON

If Jimmy Carter succeeds in becoming president, his eight-year-old daughter Amy will attend a 100-year old public elementary school in Washington with about 216 mostly black or foreign-born pupils. The school, Thaddeaus Stevens Elementary, was built in 1868 as the first public school for blacks in this capital city. Before that, blacks had been taught in homes and churches.

ADDIS ABABA

Ethiopia's military rulers are waging war against an underground communist party which they blame for many of the economic problems facing the country. Government statements have accused the Marxist-Leninist Ethiopian People's Revolutionary Party of damaging the two-year-old socialist revolution by persuading farmers to leave crops rotting in the fields and deliberatlely destroying farm machinery.

EAST BERLIN

The death of an Italian truck driver, shot by East German border guards, and the wounding of a West German camper have left relations between the two German states at a long-time low point. Fifteen years after the communists put up the Berlin Wall, on August 13, 1961, the border between East and West Germany is still the frequent scene of human tragedy.

SUDA BAY, CRETE

There are four good reasons near this big NATO base why the Soviet Union offers no serious challenge to alliance supremacy in the Mediterranean, according to Western defense analysts. They are sand bars, two on each end of this Greek island, and on them the Soviet navy spends much of its time at anchor, watched closely by NATO ships and planes.

BOBBY BURTON GAINED 90 yards to lead the Yoe rushing attack and tossed two touchdown passes and ran for another to give the Yoemen their first win of the season by defeating the powerful Elgin Wildcats 22-14 in District 23-AA football action Friday night. Mike Peck photo

Burton Leads YoeTo Win Over Elgin,22-14

Bobby Burton guided the Cameron Yoemen to their first victory in the '76 campaign and defeated Elgin, 22-14 in a crucial district 23-AA confrontation at Wildcat Stadium, Friday night.

Yoe quarterback Burton used a winning mixture of his throwing game, the Yoe running game and led the Yoe running attack with 90 yards.

Burton had more uses than the common asprin as he led the Yoemen in a winning manner when he tossed the pigskin for two touchdowns and then ran a QB keeper for the final TD.

The Yoemen scored in the 2nd, 3rd and final quarters to overpower the Wildcats. Elgin scored twice in the first half.

The Wildcats opened the scoring in the first quarter after covering 70 yards in 10 plays #35 Elroy Falke twisted 15 yards. The drive took 4 minutes and 27 seconds and the first stanza had 1:55 remaining as #40 Arnold Wilson tacked on the extra point giving the Wildcats a 7-0 lead.

The Yoemen took advantage of a punt by Elgin punter Oscar Rameriz that gained 0 yards.

The Yoemen took over on the Wildcat 40 yard line. With 5:24 seconds left in the first half Burton connected with #40 Curtis Wise for a 17 yard touchdown pass. Yoe kicking specialist James Thompson knotched the score 7-7 with the successful boot.

The TD came after the Yoemen covered the 40 yards of Elgin real estate in only 5 plays. The scoring series took 1 minute and 20 seconds.

Yoe kicked off the Wildcats and on the first play from scrimmage Falke ignited his after-burners and blasted 66 yards for the second Wildcat score. The play took only 18 seconds and the 'Cats regained the lead 14-7 when Wilson's PAT was good.

The Yoemen had to return after the first half intermission looking at a 7 point deficit.

The Yoemen took the second half kickoff and drove 79 yards in 11 carries consuming 6 minutes and 2 seconds that culminated in a Yoe TD.

Burton connected with Greg Kelley for a 49 yard bomb that looked like an instand replay from one week prior.

The Yoemen lined up for the one point conversion and Burton handled the snap and rolled out on the fakefand tossed an incomplete pass giving what looked like a one point edge to the Wildcats.

But a penalty against Elgin revived the Yoemen and Burton again rolled out and connected with James Pair for the successful 2 point conversion giving the Yoemen a one point advantage, 15-14.

In the final stanza Burton on a QB keeper swept left end and plunged in from 3 yards out to give insurance to the slim Yoe lead. The drive took 11 plays and covered 61 yards of turf taking 7 minutes and 52 seconds. Thompson tacked on the PAT giving the Yoemen a 22-14 lead with only 9:59 remaining.

The key to the Yoemen victory was a tenacious defense that shut down Elgin running back #35 Falke in the second half. Falke gained 152 yards the first half in 10 carries and scored both Wildcat touchdowns.

In the second half Falke gained only 45 yards in 4 carries. Giving way to a total of 197 yards in 19 carries for the sophomore runner. In the running department for the Yoemen Burton led the offensive attack with 90 yards in 15 carries. Errol Spells gained 74 yards in 14 carries.

In the passing game Burton connected with Wise for 11, Kelley for 49 and Pair for 27 yards. Burton's total aerial attack was good for 96 yards.

For the Wildcats Falke led the running game with 197 yards and was followed by Anthony Penson who gained 22 yards in 8 carries. Elgin quarterback tossed the pork for only 28 yards.

Both teams were pronged with mistakes but the Wildcats had 2 costly fumbles and on the opening kickoff David Delony recovered an untouched live ball on the 25 yard line. The Yoemen marched to the Elgin 2 yard line but gave up ownership on downs.

Errol Spells recovered one fumble and intercepted a misguided Elgin pass to aid the Yoe offense. Gary Lewis also had fumble recovery for the Yoemen.

The Yoemen will play Rosebud-Lott in Homecomin in 1976 with time scheduled for 7:30 p.m.

Rockdale Tigers Roll Over Hearne, 44-6

To be ranked Number One in the state is to say: Caution, we have a powerful offense and a tenacious defense. Hearne got the message 44-6, at Tiger Stadium Friday night.

It was tough to tell which team won, the Rockdale offense or the Rockdale defense.

The Tiger offense rolled up 411 yards rushing behind the elusive running of Garry White tabbing 125 yards and Leonard Wesley breaking the century mark with 101.

The Hearne Eagles looked at deficit all night that reminded the presidential candidates of the national debt. Rockdale scored first with 5:25 remaining in the first quarter when Robert Luetge sailed into the endzone from two yards out. Mario Garza's PAT boot was on the mark giving the Tigers a 7-0 lead.

The first quarter ended up being a warmup time for the Tiger offense but the next stanza included three scores.

First Graza booted a 28 yard field goal which was true to the mark.

The Eagles offense fought back in their next posession when Lee Roy Thomas on a one yard plunge. The PAT by Paul Moore failed.

The Tigers scored touchdowns before the halftime intermission. White blasted in from 9 yards out and the PAT failed. Wesley broke into paydirt from 30 yards out giving the Tigers a 23-6 halftime advantage.

What didn't go right with the Eagles the first half didn't go right in the second half either.

The Tigers scored three more times in the third quarter.

Luetge found an opening in the Hearne defense and sqirmed 21 yards for the TD followed by a successful PAT by Garza.

White dashed 57 yards in a solo effort touchdown followed by the Garza PAT. The final Tiger score came when Jack Richards rambled 28 yards giving the Tigers full command, 44-6.

The Tigers now stand 5-0 for the season and 2-0 for the district play. The Eagles season ledger stands 3-2 and 1-1 for district play.

Eagles Win District Opener

MILANO

It was more than just a regular win for the Milano Eagles when they defeated Salado, 16-0. It was also an all important district opener win for the Eagles. In the District 13-B action the Eagles and Salado battled to a first half standstill but they soared back in the second half. David Gunnels was the igniting spark for the Eagles. Gunnels tossed a 7 yard touchdown pass to Gary Kornegay. Joe Willingham dashed in for the successful two point conversion. Gunnels rolled past on a QB keeper and scored the second Eagle touchdown.

Badgers Ambush Indians

CHEROKEE

The Buckholts Badgers went to town Friday night over the Cherokee Indians. Like in all the movies the Indians lost, 33-14. The Badgers used the aerial game to dominate the important battle with field general Donnie Gaas connecting for 202 yards passing. The Indians had the lead in the running department with 187 yards to the Badgers 126. Gaas connected with Monte Williams for the first Badger TD followed by another pass-attack to Michael Allison to give Buckholts a quick 14-0 lead the first quarter. The Badgers scored in the second quarter and then scored for 19 points the second half.

Rogers Spanks L Hill

ROGERS

What Thorndale didn't do one week prior to Liberty Hill the Rogers Eagles did 41-8. Thorndale pounded Liberty Hill 70-0 last week and the Eagles capitalized on the hapless defense. Larry Clowers opened the scoring campaign on a 37 yard run followed by the second TD run of 34 yards and passed to Bobby Nabours for the third of the quarter. Ricky Douglas and Clowers also got in the scoring picture the first half. The Eagles rolled up 361 yards rushing opposed to Liberty Hill with 67. The Eagles increased their win record to 5-1 for the season.

'Dogs Slap Tigers, 14-8

THORNDALE

The Thorndale Bulldogs slipped past Thrall Friday night 14-8 in District 28A football action. Bulldog QB Michael Miller rolled out on the quarterback keeper and plunged in from one yard out to give Thorndale the lead in the second quarter. Rollie Hernandez booted the PAT. Hernadez came back in the fourth quarter on a 11 yard run that gave the Bulldogs the winning margin. Thrall got on the scoreboard later in the fourth quarter on a pass from QB Tommy Jackson to Don Jackson that covered 23 yards. Thorndale now stands 2-0 in district play while the Thrall Tigers drop to 0-1.

Manor Holds Off Panthers

PFLUGERVILLE

It was all done in the first quarter when Manor sat on a 6-0 lead over the Pflugerville Panthers in District 23AA action. The ManorMustangs mustarded up the only offensive threat in the first quarter when QB Steve Smith dashed 8 yards into pay dirt. It was an opportunistic score as a result of a Panther fumble that allowed the Mustangs good field position. The stat chart gave the Panthers the edge in all departments except on the scoreboard. The Panthers had 9 first downs, 113 yards rushing and 31 passing while the winning Mustangs had 7 first downs, 109 yards rushing and 18 from the air. Pflugerville stands 0-2 in district play while the Mustangs even the district ledger at 1-1.

Hornets Sting Cougars

CALDWELL

In an offensive rally the Caldwell Hornets defeated the Rosebud-Lott Cougars, 35-20. Melvin Williams opened the scoring for the Hornets followed by John Ayer's 69 ramble-scramble touchdown run. The Hornets captured a 14-0 first half lead over the Cougars. The Hornets remain undefeated in district play while the Cougars stand winless, 0-2. Larry Johnson led the offensive attack for the Cougars with 84 yards.

Conservative Group Hails Cong. Poage

The American Conservative Union (ACU) congratulated Texas' 11th district Congressman Poage for his outstanding voting record during 1976.

"Congressman Poage has consistently voted with interests of the American taxpayer in mind," declared ACU chairman M. Stanton Evans. "ACU commends his steadfast efforts to cut excessive government spending, reduce the Federal bureaucracy, and strengthen national defense.

Poage received a 95 percent conservative rating on ACU's Interim Rating of Congress for this year. The rating was based on 16 key legislative votes taken from January-June 1976.

"In view of the upcoming November elections it is extremely important that the voting public knows where their elected representatives stand, unequivocally and without hesitation," Evans added. "Representative Poage has demonstrated the dynamic, honest, and responsible kind of leadership so vitally needed in Congress. His voting record shows that he has forthrightly upheld the traditions of American liberty, fiscal integrity, and a strong national defense."

The word sabotage comes from a French railway strike in 1912 when the workers sabotaged the railway line by cutting the shoes (sabots in French) holding the railway lines.

Retired Vet May Miss Dividends

Many veterans retired from military service and paying premiums for U. S. Government Life Insurance (USGLI) or National Service Life Insurance (NSLI) from monthly retirement checks may be missing annual dividend checks, the Veterans Administration reported today.

The VA insurance center at Philadelphia reported there are several thousand military retirees who each month pay insurance premiums by allotment from their retired pay.

In some cases the monthly deduction becomes so routine the veterans fail to notify the VA when there is a change of address.

Housing Starts Increase Along With Population

Although prices of new houses are increasing faster than incomes in Texas, housing starts have been on the rise for more than a year. By midyear, they were running nearly 40 percent higher than a year before.

Most of the increase can be attributed to continued migration into the state. Population in Texas has been increasing for several years. But with sudden world concern for energy supplies in late 1973, the inflow stepped up sharply. It is now probably running well over 200,000 a year.

Coming mainly with companies moving to Texas for the oil and gas produced here or for the expertise in petroleum and management clustered here, this fresh wave of immigrants was quickly strenghtened by arrivals coming in support of the general economy.

Usually well paid, these new arrivals have come into housing markets on a firm footing. And having sold houses that had appreciated in other states, where housing costs were often higher than in Texas, they tend to bid up prices of houses here.

Meanwhile, another movement is under way in Texas housing. Watching apartments fill up, forcing a rise in rents, some builders have turned to selling less expensive tract houses. These houses, which can be bought at prices that compare favorably with rent, are being sold about as fast as they are built.

Only in the great middle ground do possible buyers seem to be resisting price increases. Those already in their homes are not trading up as they once did during recoveries. In some ways, this may be the most fundamental change of all.

ENDANGERED CAT, the cheetah may be too handsome for its own good. Not many are left, and hunting them is illegal in many areas. But poachers kill them anyway, because their spotted fur is in demand for women's coats.

Cheetah Now Faces Poachers

The world's fastest animal may not be fast enough to outrun extinction.

Cheetahs once were numerous in India, the Middle East, and Africa, but today only about 7,000 remain, according to National Geographic World.

In a recent issue, the magazine notes that hunting the leggy cats has been outlawed in most Africa countries. But it adds that poachers continue killing the animals because the cheetahs' spotted fur is in demand for making coats, belts, and handbags.

Exceeds Speed Limits

With race-car acceleration, a cheetah can go from zero to 45 miles an hour in two seconds; running flat out, the graceful cats have been clocked at 70 mph. But cheetahs are sprinters, not endurance runners, and can't maintain this pace for much more than 300 yards.

Such dashes are adequate to bring down antelope, a cheetah's natural prey, but not good enough to escape hunters in trucks and jeeps.

Men have been hunting cheetahs--and hunting with them--for centuries. Nearly 3,000 years ago, Egyptians and Assyrians trained them to hunt, and the practice continued until modern times in India.

In the 14th century, returning Crusaders brought the trained animals to Europe, where they were used in hunting and kept as palace pets.

A full-grown cheetah weighs from 90 to 130 pounds and measures about six and a half feet from its nose to the tip of its tail. Unlike other big cats, cheetahs can purr.

The animals share some characteristics with dogs, including blunt claws that do not fully retract. Cheetahs have other characteristics that actually hurt their chances for survival.

Strictly a Loner

They don't live and hunt in family groups, as do lions, monkeys, and many other animals. Cheetahs are loners. The female raises her cubs alone; if she is killed before the cubs are old enough to fend for themselves, they'll die.

As with other animals in Africa, the cheetahs' territory is steadily diminishing. Farmers and ranchers gradually are plowing and fencing the grasslands where the cheetahs live.

Since cheetahs seldom breed in captivity, naturalists feared the colorful cats might disappear completely. But scientists have been learning more about breeding and caring for cheetahs, with the result that 25 cubs have been born at the San Diego Zoo in California during the past four years.

Some of these animals have been lent to other zoos, in hopes of increasing the cheetahs' zoo population. Scientists believe that one day it may be possible to return zoo-bred cheetahs to the wild.

Then the sleek cats may again become a common sight on the plains of Africa.

Senate OKs Proposal For Brazos River

WASHINGTON, D.C.

The Senate Tuesday approved legislation by Senator Lloyd Bentsen which authorizes initial work on a project to increase the fresh water available along the Brazos River by 800,000 to 1.7 million acre feet a year.

The Senate included the measure in the Rivers and Harbors Authorization bill, which it passed by a vote of 78 to 3.

The project proposed in the Bentsen bill will consist of three impoundment reserovirs on the Salt Fork of the Brazos. It will cost some $73.9 million of which $55 million will be provided by the federal government.

"According to the best estimates, it will take more than 2 million acre feet of water a year to meet the needs of people along the Brazos River basin by the year 2020," Benston said.

"The problem, though, is that much of the water available to meet these needs is so polluted by chloride salts that it can't be used."

The system of impoundment reservoirs would draw off half of the salt pollution. They would be located north of Abilene, between the towns of Jayton and Knox City on the Salt Fork of the Brazos.

Existing and planned reservoirs along the tributaries of the Brazos River can provide over 800,000 acre feet of water a year for people along the river basin, but this water would be degraded if the river remains polluted. An additional 900,000 acre feet could be obtained from the Brazos itself, if the water quality is satisfactory.

"If the projected water needs along the Brazos River basin are to be met, then we must take steps to improve the quality of the surface water that is available," Bentsen said.

Firemen Plan Hall Of Fame

The State Firemen's and Fire Marshals' Association of Texas has purchased the Sports World build in Grand Prairie, according to an announcement made by association president Bob O'Burke of Duncanville.

The 24,000 sq. ft. structure, located in the heart of the metroplex entertainment area, was purchased from Gulf Western, parent organization of Paramount Pictures.

Assisting the firemen's association in negotiating the purchase was Grand Prairie city manager Cliff Johnson and Dallas county commissioner Roy Orr.

The property is in the area of Six Flags, Texas Stadium, Arlington Stadium, the Wax Museum, Lion Country Safari, and Hawaii Kai. Money to pay for the building will be raised by the 760 member fire departments of the statewide organization, through donations from insurance companies, oil companies, industry, etc.

Spokesmen for the association said the building will be used for a museum of antique fire-fighting apparatus and will probably include a Firemen's Hall of Fame. Officials plan to have the building remodeled and open by January.

Tested Tips To Help You

A WOMAN'S PLACE

There's a new saying that goes, "A woman's place is in the—flower garden!"

But when she's out there planting and pruring, it's important for her to know the best ways to make her garden grow. Here are some helpful hints.

Plant seeds at the proper depth beneath the soil, enough to cover them but not so deep as to slow germination.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Friendly Circle

The Duncan-Tracy Friendly Circle met with Mrs. George Young as hostess for the first meeting of the newly formed club. The Friendly Circle replaces the Tracy-Duncan Home Demonstration club which was held for many years.

Officers elected were Mrs. Alice Brown, chairman; Mrs. Alberta Offield, secretary; and Mrs. Buck Garner, reporter.

The Circle will meet once a month on every third Wednesday with Mrs. Marie Plate of Rockdale to be the next hostess.

Porcelain Art Guild

Lillian Burrier conducted a one-day workshop at the Cameron Porcelain Arts Club on Thursday, October 7.

Mrs. Burrier has studied painting for ten years and is a member of the Texas State Teachers of China Painting and also the International China Painting Teachers organization.

Mrs. Burrier is a member of the Temple Procelain Arts Club as well as the Cameron Procelain Arts Club.

On Thursday evening, at the regular meeting of the club, Mrs. Burrier demonstrated the painting of plums. There were 14 members and one guest present at the meeting. One new member was voted into the club, Mrs. Roy C. Hensley. The door prize was won by Sammy Miller.

NARFE

The National Association of Retired Federal Employees will meet Wednesday, Oct. 13 at 2 p.m. at the Business and Professional Women's Club house. All members and interested retirees are invited to attend.

BIRTHS

To Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Good of Cameron, a girl, Kristina LaTrelle, born Sept. 30 at King's Daughters Hospital in Temple. She weighed 6 pounds and 9 ounces. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Good and Mr. and Mrs. Morris Coward.

The tallest breed of dog is the Irish wolfhound. The extreme recorded example was Broadbridge Michael, who at two years stood 39 1/2 inches at the shoulder.

Organist In Concert At Club Meeting

The Heart 'O Texas Organ Club met Thursday evening at the Texan Restaurant for their annual dinner. Tommy Thompson, president, presided. Plaques were given to Ralph Wolf and Bob Niles for appreciation of their work for the club.

After the dinner hour Mrs. Tommy Thompson presented Ralph Wolf, organ virtuoso, in concert. The versality of the organist was a very pleasant sound for everyone.

The smorgasbord trellis was covered in greenery and autumn colors. Approximately 100 hundred people from Central Texas were in attendance.

RALPH WOLF

Wolf started his music career at the age of 7. He has played and conducted for film actress Terry Moore, The Hi-Lo's, Helen O'Connell, Mel Torme, Marilyn Maxwell, Connie Haines, Bill Bixby, and Janet Blair. Also Margaret Whiting and her father Richard Whiting who composes and arranges music for many movies.

Currently living in California, he has had several concerts recently at Mary Hardin-Baylor College at Belton.

Buckholts Honor Roll

Stan Mitchell, principal of Buckholts ISD, recently released the honor roll for the first six weeks period.

High school students making the honor roll are: Seniors Donnie Gaas, Laura Kuzel, Cassandra Marak, Johnny Marek, Vickie Orsag, and Eleanor Svetlik. Juniors, Dudley Haisler, Pamela Haisler, Donna Hause, and Calvin Sanders. Freshmen, Roger Collins.

Seventeen students were named to the honor roll from grades five through eight. They are: Eighth Margie Frenzel, Raye Nell Obermiller, Donna Rachui, and Roderick Ruzicka. Seventh, Deborah Glaser, Monica Marak, and Polly Ruzicka. Sixth, Jocelyn Glaser, Johnny Lingo, Charles Obermiller, Tonya Ruzicka, Scott Zajicek, and Gregg Mendoza. Fifth, Scotty Gresak, Joe Harris, Leonard Marak, and Jennifer Zajicek.

FASHION

The vested suit makes a "fitting" ensemble for fashionable women this fall, Marlene Odle, clothing specialist, reports.

It features a fitted blazer and either tailored pants, style leaner and tighter than last season, or a straight skirt, and matching v-necked vest buttoned down the front.

Miss Oddle is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Fabrics are 'naturals'--wool or wool blends. Gray flannel or black and white pinsstripe or raspberry, moss green and brown heathers top the color line for this suit.

"A silk or synthetic silk-look (polyester) tailored shirt or blouse completes this fall ensemble. Stripes, polka dots, florals, and solid colors are popular in crepe de chine, satin, jacquards, or find denier knits. Colors are brilliant in red, beige, rust, paprika, and orange," she said.

Accessories to complete the vested suit will be low heeled shoes, fedora hat, clutch bag, and cuff bracelets, the specialist noted.
